

News from THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY Office of University Relations / Washington, D.C. 20052 / (202) 994-6460

Nov. 2, 1988

Mark L. Goldstein (202) 994-6460

MEDIA ADVISORY

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY SINGERS TO PERFORM WINTER CONCERT AND MESSIAH SING-ALONG

EVENT:

The George Washington University Singers will perform their annual winter concert and Messiah sing-along. The free program will include works by Brahms, Mendelssohn, Britten, Hayden and Handel.

WHEN:

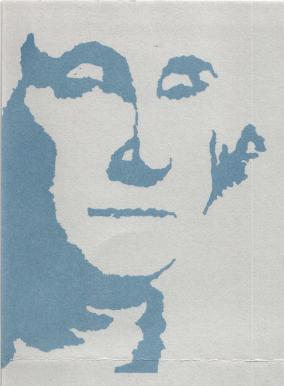

Friday, December 2, 1988, at 8 pm.

WHERE:

The George Washington University

Marvin Center Theatre 800 21st Street, NW

Media wishing to attend this event should contact Mark L. Goldstein in the Office of University Relations, (202) 994-6460.

News from The George Washington University

Office of University Relations / Washington, D.C. 20052 / (202) 994-6460

Nov. 2, 1988

Mark L. Goldstein (202) 994-6460

MEDIA ADVISORY

ROBERT PARRIS TO PERFORM WORKS IN RETROSPECTIVE CONCERT

EVENT: Robert Parris, professor of music for 25 years at The George Washington University, will perform with several other musicians in a retrospective concert of his work.

WHEN: Monday, Nov. 28, 1988, at 8 p.m.

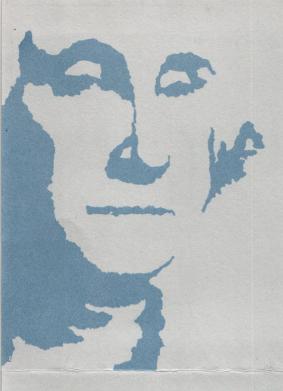

WHERE: The George Washington University

Marvin Center Theatre 800 21st Street, NW

BACKGROUND: Parris, a professor of piano and music theory, will lead five singers and musicians in a program of his music to commemorate his years teaching at George Washington. The concert will also highlight his compositions for a variety of organizations, including the National Symphony Orchestra.

Media wishing to attend this event should contact Mark L. Goldstein in the Office of University Relations, (202) 994-6460.

News from the george washington university

Office of University Relations / Washington, D.C. 20052 / (202) 994-6460

Nov. 3, 1988

Mark L. Goldstein (202) 994-6460

MEDIA ADVISORY

POET JANE SHORE TO READ IN JENNY MCKEAN MOORE SERIES

EVENT:

Jane Shore, poet and winner of the 1986 Lamont Poetry Prize, will read selections from her work as part of the on-going reading series sponsored by the Jenny McKean Moore Fund and the English department at The George Washington University.

WHEN:

Thursday, December 1, 1988, at 8 p.m.

WHERE:

The George Washington University Academic Center, Room B-120

801 22nd Street, NW

BACKGROUND:

This is the fourth in a program of free literary readings for the 1988-89 academic year. In addition to sponsoring readings, the Jenny McKean Moore Fund sponsors the Writer-in-Washington program.

Media wishing to attend this event should contact Mark L. Goldstein in the Office of University Relations, (202) 994-6460.

News from THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY Office of University Relations / Washington, D.C. 20052 / (202) 994-6460

Nov. 11, 1988 Charlotte Ericson (202) 994-6460

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

YONAH ALEXANDER JOINS THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Washington, DC -- Yonah Alexander, a noted authority on international terrorism, has been appointed research professor at The George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs.

In making the announcement Maurice A. East, dean of the Elliott School said, "We are pleased to have such a widely-recognized expert join our faculty. He complements those here at George Washington who are already working in the area."

Alexander, whose writings and statements appear frequently in the U.S. and foreign press, has edited and published more than 30 books and organized numerous conferences on the subjects of international affairs, terrorism and psychological warfare.

He is Editor-in-Chief of "Terrorism: An International Journal" and "Political Communications and Persuasion: An International Journal."

YONAH ALEXANDER JOINS GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY -- Page 2 of 2

The editor of "The International Encyclopedia of Terrorism," Alexander's most recent book is "Terrorism: An International Resource File," (UMI, 1988).

Alexander's research experience includes such appointments as senior fellow, the Institute for Advanced Studies in Justice, American University; research associate, Columbia University School of Journalism; senior staff member, Center for Strategic and International Studies; distinguished scholar, National Forum Foundation; and fellow, Institute of Social and Behavioral Pathology.

He also is affiliated with institutions such as the U.S.

Global Strategy Council, the Center for Strategic and International Studies, and the Institute for Studies in International Terrorism, State University of New York.

Alexander earned the B.A. degree in political science from Roosevelt University, the M.A. in international relations from the University of Chicago, and the Ph.D. in public law and government from Columbia University.

News from

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Office of University Relations / Washington, D.C. 20052 / (202) 994-6460

Nov. 11, 1988

Charlotte Ericson (202) 994-6460 (w) (301) 984-7875 (h)

MEDIA ADVISORY

WHAT: "Terrorism: An Evaluation of the Reagan Years and an

Agenda for the Next Administration, a day-long conference sponsored by The Elliott School of International Affairs at The George Washington University.

WHEN: 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22

WHERE: The George Washington University

Marvin Center 3rd Floor Continental Ballroom 800 21st Street, NW

PROGRAM SCHEDULE:

9 - 9:05 a.m. Opening Remarks

Dr. Maurice A. East, dean

Elliott School of International Affairs

The George Washington University

9:05 - 10:45 a.m. Panel I The Reagan Years:

Challenges and Opportunities

Chair: Dr. Yonah Alexander

research professor

Elliott School of International Affairs

Presenter: L. Paul Bremer, III

Ambassador-at-Large for Counterterrorism,

U.S. Dept. of State

Panelists: Louis Giuffrida, former director, FEMA

Dr. Bernard Reich, prof. of political science and international affairs, The George Washington University
John Wolcott, The Wall Street Journal

10:45 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Panel II Future Domestic and International Terrorism

Chair: Dr. Benjamin Nimer, professor of political science and intl. affairs,

The George Washington University

Presenter: Col. Douglas Manarchik, military assistant/aide to the Vice President

Presenter: Col. Douglas Manarchik, military assistant/aide to the Vice President

Panelists: Robert A. Ricks, deputy asst. director,

Criminal Investigation Division, FBI

Col. Stuart Perkins, CIA Philip W. Arnold, USIA

David Shipler, The New York Times

12:30 - 2 p.m. *Luncheon (Marvin Center Room 405)

> Keynote speaker will be Gen. Richard G. Stillwell, USA (Ret.), former deputy > undersecretary of defense for policy, U.S.

Dept. of Defense

2 - 3:45 p.m. Panel III Future U.S. Policy and Action

Chair: Jerrold M. Post, M.D.

professor of psychiatry, public policy and international affairs, George Washington

Hon. Charles Whitehouse Presenter:

asst. secretary of defense for special operations, Dept. of Defense

Panelists: Ambassador Bruce Laingen, Commission on

Public Service

Victoria Toensing, former deputy asst.

attorney general, Criminal Division,

Dept. of Justice

Dr. William Lewis, director Security Policy Studies Program,

Elliott School of International Affairs

3:45 - 5 p.m. Panel IV Future International Action

Chair: Dr. Christopher Joyner, associate professor of international law and politics, George Washington Univ.

Presenter: R. Randy Beers, director

> Office of Counterterrorism and Anti-Narcotics, National Security Council

Panelists: Dr. Samuel F. Wells, Jr., chairman

European Institute, Woodrow Wilson Center

Dr. Robert Hunter, director

European Studies, Center for Strategic and

International Studies

Dr. Richard Ward, Office of Criminal Justice, University of Illinois at Chicago

* The luncheon is by invitation only, However Gen. Stillwell's keynote address is open to media. Media wishing to cover the luncheon speech or those needing more information on the conference should call Charlotte Ericson in the Office of University Relations, (202) 994-6460.

News from THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY Office of University Relations / Washington, D.C. 20052 / (202) 994-6460

Nov. 28, 1988 Charlotte Ericson (202) 994-6460

MEDIA ADVISORY

G.W. TO SPONSOR DECEMBER BRIEFINGS ON TERRORISM

During the month of December The George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs will sponsor a three-part series of Monday conferences on terrorism.

Scheduled from 10 a.m. to noon, Dec. 5, Dec. 12, and Dec. 15, the series will cover terrorism in Africa and in the Middle East, and culminate with a briefing titled "Terrorism: A Review of 1988 and the Prospects for 1989."

Conferences are free and open to the public, and will be held in the George Washington University Marvin Center, 800 21st Street, NW. Following is a complete schedule and list of participants.

"Terrorism in Africa: The Next Phase?"

10 a.m. - noon, Monday, Dec. 5

Marvin Center, Room 410

Chair: Dr. Yonah Alexander

The Elliott School of International Affairs,

The George Washington University

Panelists: Professor Herbert Howe, Georgetown University;

Dr. Constantine Menges, American Enterprise Institute; Professor Benjamin Nimer, The

George Washington University; Ambassador Donald

Norland, Foreign Service Institute

"Terrorism in the Middle East: The Next Phase?"

10 a.m. - noon, Monday, Dec. 12

Marvin Center, Room 404

Chair:

Dr. Yonah Alexander, research professor Elliott School of International Affairs

Panelists:

Mr. Geoffrey Levitt, Dept. of State; Dr. William Lewis, director, Security Policy Studies Program, Elliott School of International Affairs; Dr. David Long, Visiting Professor, Georgetown University; Dr. Heath Lowry, director, Institute on Turkish Studies; Dr. Bernard Reich, professor of Political Science and chairman, Department of Political Science, The George Washington University

* * *

"Terrorism: Review of 1988 and the Prospects for 1989"

(PRESS BRIEFING)

10 a.m. - noon, Monday, Dec. 19

Marvin Center, Room 402 - 404

Chair

Dr. Yonah Alexander, research professor, Elliott School of International Affairs

Panelists:

Mr. L. Carter Cornick, Jr., president
CounterTerrorism Consultants, Inc.; Mr.
Joseph DiGenova, Bishop, Cook, Purcell &
Reynolds; Mr. Paul Joyal, director of Security, Select Committee on Intelligence,
U.S. Senate; Dr. Robert Kupperman, senior associate, Center for Strategic and International Studies; Professor William
Lewis, director, Security Policy Studies
Program, George Washington University; M r.
Peter Probst, U.S. Department of Defense; Dr.
Dalton West, senior fellow, U.S. Global Strategy Council

*Media representatives who need more information or who plan to cover these events should call Charlotte Ericson in the Office of University Relations, (202) 994-6460.